

Campbell Hosts Media Resource Center and all our Churches Gain

The Ecumenical Media Resource Center – which has long been a treasure of resources for the churches of our Annual Conference – is settled into its new home at Campbell UMC, 1675 S. Winchester Blvd. , in Campbell .

“The Media Resource Center is a ‘co-op library’ of media for Christian education and mission studies,” says Pat Strandburg, a staff person at the Center. “Member churches have access to more than 3,000 videos, as well as sample curricula, films, activity kits, filmstrips and games. (It provides) powerful resources on Christ’s teachings and the Bible, church history, comparative religion, family life and parenting, and the varieties of Christian service, available for adult study, youth programming, and Sunday school classes.” Thanks to our Conference Program Apportionments, smaller churches are able to become Center members at a minimal cost. To find out more about the resource, you can call the Center at (408) 378-2532 or fax them at (408) 378-2652.
